A look at Ōtau Ridge's new facilities

A tukutuku panel designed by Tessa Harris (Ngāi Tai ki Tāmaki) welcomes residents and visitors at the entrance to Metlifecare's new amenities building at Ōtau Ridge in Clevedon.

Work continues to progress on Ōtau Ridge (Metlifecare's new retirement village in Clevedon) with the final touches currently being applied to the village's new amenities building which the PC Times was fortunate to preview last month.

Ōtau (pronounced or-toe) Ridge is set to open its amenities building later this year.

Local artist Tessa Harris (Ngāi Tai ki Tāmaki) has played a key role in the new building's interior design, including overseeing the design and manufacture of 32 pendant light shades made from harakeke/flax grown locally at Umupuia Marae. The harakeke has been processed into paper, before being sculpted into light shades which grace the building's dining and cafe area. Other artwork includes a large tukutuku panel, and a woven artwork which greets guests at the entranceway to the building.

Facilities within the new communal building include a wellness room for regular health check-ups and minor treatments, and a flexible multi-purpose space for recreational activities like yoga, table tennis and bowls.

Residents and visitors will be able to enjoy a licensed café and bar, which will be open to the public. There is also a library and games room, a hair salon and a cinema.

A 1.8-kilometre walking trail winds through the grounds near the Wairoa river, and a large outdoor seating area covered by adjustable louvres provides an all-weather space for residents to enjoy some fresh air while overlooking the

Editorial by Clevedon Community and Business Association

Winter will soon be knocking on the door, but in the meantime the mild autumn weather continues to see Clevedon buzzing with activity, particularly during the recent long weekends.

One of our recent focus areas has been promoting Clevedon as a destination, and making sure our community and visitors can make the most of their Clevedon experience. Our new Clevedon Visitor Map has been designed with this goal in mind. This handy pocket-sized fold-out map includes listings for all our member businesses that benefit from visitation to the Wairoa Valley, alongside local trail and regional park locations, plus editorial content outlining the best of Clevedon across the categories of Walk, Bike, Host, Shop, Taste and See & Do in Clevedon.

The new map supplements the information available digitally on www.clevedon.co.nz.

A big thank you to our advertising partners who have enabled the publication of this visitor resource - we couldn't have done it without you.

The map will be distributed via local business outlets and The Farmers Market, and while it has been designed as a visitor map, it will be a valuable guide for residents too.

New team members

The CCBA is fortunate to have a team of talented volunteers who have put up their hands to manage projects within our work plan, and it's exciting to see so much being achieved.

In addition to our newly-elected chair, Martin Grant, this year the CCBA has welcomed three new local volunteers who are helping us promote Clevedon as a great place to live, work and play.

Acacia Nightingale has recently stepped into the role of Digital Manager, overseeing our digital channels including our website and our ClevedonNZ social media channels. Acacia has a wealth of digital marketing experience so will help elevate the promotion of our local events, attractions, businesses, and people through these channels.

Also joining the team this year is Leanne Chamberlin, whose name will be familiar to many of you through her role as owner/editor of the Pōhutukawa Coast Times. Leanne is putting together our regular RoundUp contributions and guest editorials for the PC Times.

We have also welcomed Sarah Crabb, who is helping to literally put us on the map by managing our destination strategy and campaigns to encourage visitors to our area. Sarah is a marketing guru with over a decade's worth of experience. She has a good understanding of the wider area in which she is actively involved.

CCBA strategy and work plan

It has been a busy few months for the Clevedon CBA as we finalise our strategy and work plan for the coming year. We exist to create meaningful connections between people and people, people and place and people and businesses. We do this by creating and sharing compelling stories and engaging events. At the end of the day, we'd like a connected community with heart, character and spirit in which lives are enriched and businesses thrive. We have a series of goals that we believe will set us on the right path to making this vision a reality. Our seven key areas of focus for the coming year centre on:

- Communication
- Events and place-making
- Design and planning
- Destination Clevedon
- Clevedon Main Street
- Resilience and safety
- Membership

We couldn't do this work without the wonderful support of our members, the Franklin Local Board and the businesses that sponsor our events and advertise in our publications. To all of you, thank you very much on behalf of Clevedon.

You can find more details about our strategic focus and work plan at clevedon.co.nz.

If you have any questions or feedback on the work we do we'd love to hear from you - you can email loveclevedon@clevedon.co.nz

Course aims to help parents tackle tricky conversations with teens

Child and adolescent trauma therapist and high school sex educator Jo Robertson will help parents understand their childrens’ online and offline world, at a one-off parenting workshop on 15 May at Beachlands Baptist Church.

The workshop will identify potential risks and suggest strategies for addressing those risks.

Jo’s philosophy centres around helping parents talk openly with their children, relationship building and implementing practical strategies that make a difference.

Over the last year or so, Beachlands Baptist Church says it has noticed a dramatic increase in the harm young people are experiencing either as a result of online activities, or just that of normal day to day disagreements “escalating to disproportional heights in the quiet coves of online spaces”.

Beachlands Baptist Church community and family pastor Megan Sheppard says: “The impact of all this overflows into our real life spaces in ways that our young people, and their parents, are unprepared for and struggle to cope with. Very loving parents are often unaware of the extent of what’s going on and/or of the trouble and hurt caused as a result.”

Megan says the recent Netflix hit Adolescence has hit home for many parents of young people.

“While technology advances and devices are often fabulous supports to learning and connection, NZ stats on the way children and young people are interacting online are sobering.”

Jo Robertson’s ‘Tricky Chats’ parenting website suggests that 91 per cent of 11 year-olds have a smartphone, and 70 per cent of child sexual abuse image reports with a 7-10 year old child were made by the child themselves and sent to someone online.

“Essentially we’re unwittingly risking leaving our kids alone in a really vulnerable, and at times dangerous, space with no support, or advice,” says Megan.

Beachlands Baptist Church is excited that Jo Robertson will visit Beachlands to share some tips and practical tools on keeping kids safe from sexual harm - online and offline.

Jo advocates widely on child protection policies, has been involved in the development of the ‘Makes Sense Aotearoa’ movement and has developed the online Tricky Chats Parenting Course. She’s also well known from her therapist role on Married at First Sight NZ and has delivered a great TED talk about her research into online sexual content/porn and its impact on people.

Tickets can be purchased for $10 to help cover costs, but Megan says the church does not want anyone to miss out and has therefore offered a set of tickets to local schools and some kindergartens to share. A funding grant from the Takutai Charitable Trust is helping to cover some of the costs of the event.

Light refreshments will be provided, as well as resources and discounts from online safety organisation SafeSurfer.

Love the care around you.

At Summerset, there’s always a helping hand when you need it. Alongside our neighbourly community, our villages are designed so that as your needs change, we have different levels of care and support across our villages (subject to availability and eligibility criteria). We call it our continuum of care... but really, it’s about always being there.

Plus, you’ll have the peace of mind of having six months to sell your current home.# It’s never been easier to make the move.

Rotary faces tough decisions re funding grant allocations

The date for applying for Pōhutukawa Coast Rotary Grants has now closed. The club identified $20,000 from funds raised last year to disburse to the community. Applications from 20 community groups were received, and requests for money totalled $70,000.

Rotary president John Stacey says he would like to thank all those who applied and that all the requests deserved funding. However, with the limited money available, the trustees will have to make some difficult decisions. Trustees will meet in May to consider all applications.

On 22 May Rotary will resume its winter talk series at the Rowan Muir Centre, 211 Maraetai Drive, starting at 7.00 pm. Refreshments will be available. Guest speaker Gerard Bourdillon (from Maraetai) will share his experience as an officer of the Thames Valley (UK) Police Force. His story includes working with royalty, prime ministers, VIPs, petty criminals, football hooligans and serial killers. He will discuss the resulting stress and strain that affected his family and his mental health, and since then, his strategies to overcome this.

Gerard’s recently self-published book, Out of the Blue, shares his experience. The book will be available for purchase after the talk. or via his website: www.outoftheblue-books.com.

Can you make a difference in your area?

Auckland’s local body elections will be held this year, and Auckland Council is encouraging local residents to throw their hat in the ring for the positions of mayor, ward councillors and local board members.

This year Franklin Local Board chair Angela Fulljames will step down from her role. Fellow board members Malcolm Bell and Angela Hopkins will once again stand for election to represent the Wairoa area.

You do not need any special qualifications. Elected members come from all backgrounds and walks of life. To be effective you need a broad range of skills, such as decision making and strategic thinking, communication and community engagement, and relationship building and collaboration.

Election nominations open on 4 July 2025. For further information see voteauckland.co.nz.

10 Sentence Structure Story Challenge

Ella never believed in magic until the book in her hand started to glow. Whenever Ella went to this library something weird happens. But this time she found a book. It looked golden dusty brown.

Ella was really nervous and scared. Ella’s friend walked in and whispered, “Hello?”

Inside the book was a small Music Box playing a creepy song, slowly and carefully.

Ella put the book back but then she heard a voice. It said, “You shouldn’t have put the book back.”

Ella and her friend was never seen again .

Celebrating 18 years of property management, debt collection and admin services

When I first started this business, my goal was simple: to help people protect what they've worked so hard to build - whether it's through property management, debt collection or administration services.

As a rental property owner myself, I know how important it is to have the right tenant, to be kept informed, and to know there's someone actively managing your investment — not just ticking boxes. That's the level of service I expect for my own properties, and it's the standard we hold ourselves to for every client we work with.

We've grown into a small but dedicated team that shares this vision. We believe in doing business the personal way, with clear communication and consistent follow-up. You'll never be left wondering where things are at.

If you want to chat about your property management, debt collection, or admin needs, please don't hesitate to reach out. See ad below for details.
