Beachlands celebrates bike pump track opening

Hundreds turned out last Sunday to support the opening of Beachlands new pump track, built and funded by Maraetai local Byron Scott.

Byron thanked the community for their support throughout the project, acknowledging in particular the Trail Pro team, Dempsey Wood, Fulton Hogan, Ezy Hire Equipment, CVH, Coastal Concrete, Pro Water and the Franklin Local Board.

Children of all ages took a spin around the new track at the opening and gave it a big thumbs up.

"It's pretty good," says Miles Scott. "There are lines for everyone."

Fletcher Living handed out 400 free sausages at the event, and had to send for more.

Byron asked that park users respect the neighbouring homes, and the planting that has been done throughout the site.

Guest editorial by Friends of Te Wairoa

Friends of Te Wairoa have had some very successful bait and trap events recently in Hūnua, Clevedon and Ararimu, where we supported over 30 properties at each. We do this by providing the necessary bait, bait stations and traps to anyone who drops by during one of our events, in order to help them target rats and possums on their properties. We also provide tailored advice, listening to the challenges and quirks of a property before suggesting the best methods to move forward, and what gear to use to do so. Our neighbours in Maraetai ran a similar event last Sunday. Check out www.predatorfreefranklin.nz for details of future events.

Locals are waging war on woolly nightshade.

nightshade campaign, which will be making its way into the Wairoa River catchment before long – watch this space! Our AGM is coming up quickly, and we’re excited with the prospect of inviting along a member of Tane’s Tree Trust to speak on the work of Ian Barton. Ian was a historian and researcher who conducted many of his trials in the Wairoa River Catchment. He sadly passed away earlier this year, and in his memory we are keen to reflect on the mahi he has contributed to the horticultural sector in terms of native forestry, and historical records of the district. Meet us at the Hūnua Hall in the evening of Tuesday 5 August. More details to come!

Headstone restoration undertaking a grave responsibility

Volunteers gathered at the Hūnua Presbyterian Church Cemetery late last month for a headstone restoration workshop hosted by the New Zealand Remembrance Army (NZRA), whose members aim to honour the sacrifice of those who served by returning dignity to their graves and ensuring their service is remembered.

The Hūnua cemetery, established in late 1875, sits on two acres of church land next to Hūnua School. The land was gifted by Mr E Hirst, and the first burial was that of Corrie Palmer who tragically drowned at age 35 in the Wairoa River on 9 December 1875. The second burial was 9-month-old Thomas Nobbs in March 1876. Since then, the site has become a final resting place or memorial site for around 100 people, including servicemen who fought in World War I and II. Their names are also etched into the Hall of Memories at the Auckland War Memorial Museum.

Led by George Stewart-Dalzell of the NZRA, the restoration workshop aimed to tidy up the graves of veterans ahead of the church’s 150th anniversary in October. George’s daughter Carter and a keen group of volunteers spent a few hours restoring headstones and identifying service graves, laying ceramic poppies in remembrance.

Local historian Barbara Mansell helped identify and verify the graves of those who paid “the ultimate price” for Hūnua, and emphasised the historical value of headstones.

“Some still bear names that are echoed in the district today - on local road signs and in family histories,” says Barbara.

The workshop included a practical lesson in caring for marble, granite and slate headstones, along with demonstrations on maintaining flat beds (ledgers) and kerbs (edges). Participants learned the impact of weather and neglect on historic graves and the importance of regular care.

One family cleaned the grave of their great-great-grandfather and uncle. Others committed to returning for future sessions.

So far, ten veterans and three cenotaphs have been identified at the cemetery, each now marked with a poppy.

“That’s a pretty decent number in a cemetery of just around 100 burials,” says George.

The NZRA will return to complete restoration work prior to the church’s 150th anniversary on Sunday 19 October this year, are keen to hear from anyone who might like to help.

“It would be great to get more locals involved with the hands on restoration,” says George. “We have some heavy physical work that extra hands would be greatly welcome with.”

Donations to support the work can be made to:

LOCAL STUDENTS' NEWS, VIEWS & LITERARY TALENT

This column features news, views and literary talents of students from Beachlands, Maraetai, Clevedon, Brookby, Hunua, Paparimu, Orere and Ardmore Schools.

One student featured each week will be presented with a certificate and a $20 book voucher, thanks to Barfoot & Thompson's Beachlands and Whitford branches.

This week's voucher sponsored by Stuart Fitzpatrick

The boy is on the train tracks. The train tracks are rusty. The boy waits and waits. The moon starts to talk to him.
“I will get you home” but the moon disappeared into the distance but the boy needed to get home so the boy shouted,
“Wait moon you need me. You need me to go home” .
So a twinkling star said
“The moon is a bit cranky” .
“But I need to get home”
“Well, I can’t help”
“But if you can’t, I will never get home. I guess I will never get home”.
But the ginormous black panther dog dropped him into his chimney.
