Brushing up Beachlands: artists push for a coastal creative hub

Pukekohe has the stylish Franklin Arts Centre - but where are the spaces for artists on the Pōhutukawa Coast?

A group of local artists is about to investigate the possibility of setting up a local arts hub in Beachlands or Maraetai, dedicated to providing a permanent space for artists to undertake classes, create and exhibit their work.

Beachlands artist and group spokesperson Samantha Sutherland says that after a post on the local Grapevine, it became clear there is a huge demand for arts-based and community education classes on the Coast.

"We also met with a funding broker for the Franklin Local Board and he indicated the board realise there is a lack of venues and support for arts out here. The other side of Franklin has a great venue in the Franklin Arts Centre.

"It would be amazing to have a dedicated space - at the moment all the local halls, the log cabin etc only have limited availability which makes it hard to coordinate bookings with different entities," says Samantha.

The art group has also met with potential tutors who say they would love to have a local centre to work from, providing the convenience of a venue and customers, allowing them to focus on sharing their creativity.

Samantha says the group would love the hub to be located in Beachlands or Maraetai, while also catering for surrounding areas.

"This is the largest populated area and we can pull people from our surrounding coast and Howick."

The group plans to set up a committee to look at potential venues that it can lease or be gifted. It also plans to apply for funding to get a website and booking system set up, and an administrator to coordinate this.

"We have the creatives, the tutors and the customers and now we need the people with heart, business acumen, philanthropists, accountants and arts patrons to help with the next step - either in an advisory capacity to start up or as an ongoing member of what will ultimately be a charitable trust," says Samantha.

Anyone interested in offering help or expertise can contact Samantha by email: samantha\_sutherland@hotmail.com.

The group is also putting out a call to any local artists keen to join together for the Franklin Arts Trail which will be held throughout Labour weekend. "We are looking to exhibit within a hall space, so we'd like to hear from artists who have no studio space of their own to exhibit and sell art. We also strongly encourage our young people to join with us."

Council investigating whether to restrict number of dogs on walks

- by Laura Kvigstad, Auckland Council reporter. Funded by New Zealand on Air

Auckland Council will be looking to implement rules for walking multiple dogs after a review found an over-representation in incidents.

At council’s Regulatory and Community Safety Committee on 2 July, members endorsed the findings from a review of council’s dog management bylaw and policy on dogs.

The review found that dog walkers with multiple dogs were over-represented when it came to incidents in shared spaces.

While the report said incidents were mostly low impact, the representation was disproportionate.

Dog walkers with multiple dogs made up 36 per cent of aggressive incidents and 31 per cent of chasing wildlife in shared spaces.

Chair Josephine Bartley asked if there was anything council could do about irresponsible dog walkers.

“We are having so many problems out there with dog walkers, even private individuals walking their dogs and not controlling their dogs that are off leash and they end up attacking other dogs,” Bartley said.

A Whitford family lost their beloved dog Kippa (above) after she was attacked by a pack of dogs being walked on the Whitford bridle path.

She noted that commercial dog walking was unregulated and wondered if the bylaw could help.

Senior policy advisor Kylie Hill confirmed council would be investigating whether council could add rules for walking multiple dogs.

“We will be looking at investigating if there are options around potentially limiting the number of dogs that someone could walk,” Hill said.

Council staff will prepare a number of options to improve the bylaw and present these at the end of the year.

News of the proposed changes will be welcomed by local residents who have experienced frightening encounters with a Takaanini-based pack walking business. Whitford resident Barbara Wright’s 13-year-old dog Kippa had to be euthanised after it was attacked by a group of dogs being pack-walked by Stimulated K9, a dog walking business.

Council prepares to engage public on pest control issues

- by Laura Kvigstad, Auckland Council reporter. Funded by New Zealand on Air

A city councillor has admitted that pest plants such as woolly nightshade and moth plant are widespread on private land and that council finds it difficult to enforce removal of the plants due to cost.

At Auckland Council’s Rural Advisory Panel on 2 August, panel members were asked to give their views on pest management for a number of key issues.

The council will start an initial phase of public engagement for the next Regional Pest Management Plan later this year. While the current plan will not lapse until 2030, the council reports the process can be lengthy, so it’s beginning work now.

Biosecurity principal advisor Dr Imogen Bassett said while upcoming engagement would be quite targeted on specific issues, broader consultation would come later down the line.

“Pest pressures are not a static thing. They are changing over time; we have different things being brought into the country,” Bassett said.

She highlighted cat management, exotic caulerpa, freshwater gold clam and climate resilience as primary issues.

“We need to ask the general public about these. The themes are around either new pests that have emerged since our existing plan was made operative or where we have identified that there are existing past issues but things are changing.”

Franklin Local Board member and Rural Advisory Panel member Alan Cole said a big issue for management was around landowners not managing pest species on private land.

“Since the last plan came out, one of the things I’m noticing is the lack of ability to police people on private land around woolly nightshade and moth plant,” Cole said.

Bassett said the early engagement would not look at that issue because the views were already quite clear.

“Woolly nightshade and moth plant are already very widespread in our region,” Bassett said, estimating that it would cost millions of dollars to enforce compliance.

She said it would be a question for elected members if they choose to put more funding into compliance.

Panel member Brian Mason said that the council seemed to be missing another pest that impacts rural Aucklanders.

“The concern I’ve got is what can we do about pigs because pigs are a huge threat in North Eastern Rodney. We have got 20 to 30 pigs running in at night time in amongst a herd of cows. Can the council do something there for us or can’t they? Most farmers would be very happy to accommodate whatever was available,” Mason said.

A councillor says the cost of enforcing control of moth plant on private land is too high.

Bassett said most of the council’s pig control was in the Waitakere Ranges.

“A lot of these questions are really a political question around how much we invest in some of these things. The biosecurity act can give us a range of powers to do things like that,” Bassett said.

The initial phase of public engagement is expected to begin in November this year.

New exhibition graces walls of Quay Gallery

- by Quay Gallery Whitford
Quay Gallery presents 'Shared Horizons', a solo exhibition by local artist Dalene Meiring.
Dalene is a Whitford artist whose work embodies colour. Dalene's works are described as rich, warm and incredibly beautiful. They are vivid, harmonious in form and express a rarely found vitality.
Her three main styles are landscapes, portraits and abstracts. Passionate about experimentation with texture, colour and different media, she is able to produce a unique and compelling finish to these styles.
Dalene portrays the people, places and objects that link her inextricably with her surroundings. Much of her work shows a strong link to the land of her birth - South Africa, although having lived here for close to 30 years, her New Zealand experience increasingly shines through. Certainly, the warm, welcome golden palette of her canvases invites contemplation and reflection.

What to expect from a wastewater treatment system service

- by HydroVac
Regularly servicing your wastewater system helps to prevent potential health hazards and costly repairs. Auckland City Council regulations require you to have your system inspected and serviced every six months – HydroVac can do this for you.
Here's what a comprehensive wastewater treatment system service with HydroVac entails:
1. Inspection: Our technician will complete a thorough inspection. They will check:
• the electrical compartment for corrosion or damage of componentry and will advise if an electrician is required
• the alarm – they'll test this by lifting high level float and disconnecting airline or switch
• the aerator / air blower operation to ensure bacteria is aerating
• internal sludge return pipework for blockages
• inlet and outlet pipes to ensure they are clear.
2. Assessment for an empty. The crust and sludge levels in chambers are checked – this helps our technician to determine when your system might need an empty. Usually it's 5-8 years or 8-10 years for a Biocycle.

3. Filters are cleaned. The submersible pump operation is checked by removing the pump and cleaning the shroud/impellers. The solids filter and irrigation filter (if fitted) are also removed and cleaned.
4. The disposal field is flushed and checked for above-ground leaks and repairs carried out. Should the field have failed and need replacement, we can offer an estimated quote.
5. Record-keeping: On completion of service, a service report will be sent direct to council for their records.
By following a routine maintenance schedule, homeowners can avoid costly repairs, protect the environment, and ensure the longevity of their wastewater system.
If you require a service, inspection or empty, please reach out to our friendly team at HydroVac: 0800 493 768 or www.hydrovac.co.nz

Considering travel? World Travellers opens new Beachlands branch

- by World Travellers Beachlands
Beachlands now boasts its own branch of World Travellers.

When Nicole Ambrusfy decided to return to her home town and settle down near family again, her first thought turned to her work; having work life balance and ensuring that her passion, helping people create their dream holidays, remained the same.

“I remember writing an email to my manager which simply said – I still want to work for you,” says Nicole.

When Sue Robinson received Nicole’s email and realised Nicole planned to move from Whitianga to Beachlands, she jumped at the opportunity to expand their travel agency into East Auckland; and so, World Travellers Beachlands opened 1 August 2024.

“Nicole was an important part of our team pre COVID and we were blessed when she came back to us. We fully supported her move to the Pōhutukawa Coast,” says Sue.

“We love her style, her enthusiasm and her knowledge so we wanted to make sure people could access Nicole’s expertise in whatever way works for them. While we are looking for a space for her (and hopefully another consultant) to work from, Nicole will work from her home office or Pepperjacks.”

The Travel the World Group, owned by Paul and Sue Robinson, has World Travellers branded stores in Merivale and Rolleston (Christchurch), Blenheim and Whanganui; and now in Beachlands. Aside from leisure travel, they also facilitate business, group and sports and events travel.

World Travellers is a New Zealand-owned and operated collective of travel agencies throughout the country. Each office is independently owned and operated.

World Travellers Beachlands invite the community to our Cruise night at Pepperjacks on Thursday 22 August 5.30pm-8pm. Nicole will be joined by cruise lines NCL, MSC, Scenic and Princess Cruises.

Nicole Ambrusfy is helping locals realise their travel dreams, as the face of World Travellers Beachlands’ new office.

Howick College celebrates 50 years!

Howick College is gearing up for an unforgettable milestone this October as it celebrates its Golden Jubilee, marking 50 years with a variety of exciting events and activities.

This special occasion offers a chance to stroll down memory lane, reconnect with old friends, and rediscover the names that go with those familiar, yet slightly older, faces!

The jubilee celebrations will kick off on Friday 18 October with a relaxed afternoon of flavour and fun at a Mexican-inspired “Afternoon Tea-quila”. This unique event, hosted at Despensa in Howick, promises a delightful twist on the traditional afternoon tea with vibrant Mexican flavours.

For keen golfers of all skill levels, an Ambrose format golf day will take place at Pakuranga Golf Club. Participants have the option to build their own four-man team or leave the team selection to chance and be paired with fellow golfers for a surprise team experience.

On Saturday 19 October, the college is hosting a School Tour with a tree planting ceremony. The day will include art, music and sports, highlighting the diverse talents and achievements of the students.

On Saturday evening, a Mix & Mingle event will take place in the newly refurbished library at Howick College. The award-winning hospitality team will serve delicious canapés, and the night will feature speeches, cake-cutting to celebrate the milestone, and will conclude with a DJ and dance floor.

As Howick College embarks on its next chapter, the Golden Jubilee is set to be a memorable celebration that honours its history while looking forward to the future. Alumni and former staff are warmly invited to join the festivities.

For details on the event schedule and to secure your tickets, please visit <https://howick.ptly.com/50thjubilee>.

LOCAL STUDENTS' NEWS, VIEWS & LITERARY TALENT

This column features news, views and literary talents of students from Beachlands, Maraetai, Clevedon, Brookby, Hunua, Paparimu, Orere and Ardmore Schools.

One student featured each week will be presented with a certificate and a $20 book voucher, thanks to Barfoot & Thompson's Beachlands and Whitford branches.

This week's voucher sponsored by Matthew Brown

Captain Joe of the Ocean Diver Ship sailed with his crew Five, Cai, Buck, and their friends. They had sailed the seas and one day the birds didn't land on the sail.

The water shook and the waves rumbled. Then a giant head rose from the water and a giant tentacle grabbed the ship. "Aaaaah it's... a Kraken!" The Kraken grabbed a sailor with its slimy tentacle. Captain Joe said, "Fire the cannons, shoot the beast!"

The horrible beast was eating people with its sharp teeth.

The Kraken dived under the ship to make the biggest whirlpool to drag the ship to the bottom of the sea.

The ship sailed out just in time. But the Kraken swam back with more tricks to sink the ship. All day and all night the ship sailed for weeks and no sign of the beast.

Did it go off to find more prey? No, it's hiding under the sea to pop up and attack.

Then the Kraken popped out of the water. Captain Joe was shooting the Kraken, but it was no use. The Kraken kept eating everyone on the ship. Captain Joe was the last one standing. "If this is how I die, so be it". Then the kraken ate him.

The end
