NZTA reveals latest plan for Mill Road upgrade

Sixteen years after Manukau City Council first mooted the idea of the Mill Road corridor, the project is once again back on the table, with NZ Transport Agency (NZTA) Board's endorsement of an investment case for Stage One.

The NZTA Board has approved $91.1 million for completing the design work and securing consents on Stage One.

Transport Minister Chris Bishop says South Auckland is the fastest growing area in the Auckland region, with 120,000 more people expected to make it their home over the next 30 years.

"We need to get on and deliver crucial transport infrastructure that supports that kind of growth, reduces congestion, improves safety, and helps unlock housing," Bishop says.

The investment case for Mill Road Stage 1 (Manukau to Alfriston) includes:

- Four lane (general traffic) corridor including a westbound bus lane at the northern end.
- Two new and six upgraded intersections between SH1 interchange and Murphys Road.

- Three new roundabouts.
- New bridges across Puhinui Creek and Cheesman's Bush.
- Current Mill Road south of Redoubt Road becomes a shared path and property access road.

Bishop says that delivering Mill Road Stage 1 has substantial benefits, citing a 30 percent reduction in congestion on the corridor, over 60 percent reduction in deaths and serious injuries, and by 2031, 25 percent faster journey times.

"The endorsement of the investment case and approval of design and consent funding for Stage 1 provides certainty on the next steps as the project moves to complete the design and technical work necessary for construction to begin as early as mid-2026," said Bishop.

NZTA plans to divide the Stage 1 construction into different

Guest editorial by the Takutai Charitable Trust

Takutai Charitable Trust celebrates 6 years of community impact
This month marks a special milestone as the Takutai Charitable Trust celebrates its 6th anniversary, reflecting on the incredible strides made by Coastal Treasures and the Takutai Foodbank in serving and connecting our local community. With great pride, we share the Trust’s ongoing efforts to enable, support, and connect those in need through various programmes, events, and initiatives.

Over the years, the Trust has been lucky to have the tireless dedication of its volunteers, whose contributions make all of these efforts possible. It is with gratitude that we highlight some of the recent successes and updates from the Trust’s activities.

Coastal Treasures: a hub of giving and sustainability
Many of our community members are already familiar with Coastal Treasures, a thriving initiative that has grown significantly over the years. With a team of more than 20 volunteers, Coastal Treasures collects, sorts, stores, and sells more than 900kg of donated goods each week. Remarkably, over 95% of these donations are sold, reused, or redirected to other local charities.

In a new development, two of our dedicated volunteers have recently become Tag and Test accredited, allowing electrical goods to be safely donated and resold. This new step not only helps reduce waste but also increases the range of items available to those who need them.

The profits from Coastal Treasures are reinvested into the community through a variety of programmes and events. These include the popular Light Party, Silver Tones morning teas for our seniors, and supporting local students by providing opportunities for them to attend school and sporting trips. It’s heartening to see how the funds raised continue to make a meaningful impact.

Takutai Foodbank: reducing waste and supporting families
The Takutai Foodbank, another pillar of the Trust, operates with the same community-driven spirit. Thanks to the generous partnership with KiwiHarvest, the foodbank not only helps reduce food waste but also ensures that local households have access to essential food items. Importantly, the foodbank works closely with schools, ensuring that lunch items are available to every child in need.

Coastal Community Garden: growing together
Our Coastal Community Garden

continues to flourish, thanks to the hands-on work of our garden club volunteers. Summer was a season of abundance, with everything from cucumbers to eggplants, apples to passionfruit – just some of the many crops harvested. As we look toward winter, planning is already underway for the next planting season. The garden is not only a place for growing food but also for growing relationships and laughter. If you’re interested in getting involved, be sure to visit the garden’s Facebook page for more information about when you can help out.

Youth engagement and wellness initiatives
The Trust is also deeply committed to empowering the next generation. With the support of the Franklin Local Board, our youth coordinator plans and facilitates a variety of activities, including working closely with the local youth council to engage young people and ensure they have access to exciting and valuable opportunities.

One of the highlights from this year was the first-ever Wellness Expo, in partnership with Te Puru Trust. The event brought together local health and wellness services, offering the community valuable insights and resources. Additionally, the expo featured a variety of sports clubs and volunteer organisations, creating a vibrant space for community connection. Families also enjoyed a fun-filled Easter Egg Hunt, with activities for all ages.

Looking ahead: a Christmas Parade returns in 2025
We know that last year’s absence of the local Christmas Parade left a gap in the community’s festive spirit. However, we are excited to announce that a former trustee has kindly offered to coordinate the event for 2025. We will be reaching out soon for volunteers to help with both the planning and execution of the parade, and we encourage you to keep an eye out for more details in the coming weeks.

Join us in making a difference
The work of the Takutai Charitable Trust wouldn’t be possible without the support of volunteers and community members who share our vision. If you would like to learn more about the Trust’s activities or get involved, please don’t hesitate to contact us at info@takutaicharitabletrust.co.nz. Together, we can continue to build a stronger, more connected community.

Here’s to the next 6 years of making a difference!

Land yachtie ‘Spicks’ up the pace to break distance record

Coast resident and local business owner Allister Spick has sailed his way into the history books, setting a new 24-hour distance record at the recent North American Blokart Nationals held at Ivanpah Dry Lake, just outside Las Vegas. Despite fatigue, darkness, and even a crash, Allister clocked an impressive 648 kilometres in just 16 hours, smashing the previous record of 589 km in 24 hours.

Allister launched his record-breaking attempt on 31 March at 7.45am, with near-perfect wind conditions, 34 square kilometres of hard-packed desert, and the steady support of fellow Kiwi, Eamon McRobbie.

“Last year at the world champs awards evening we celebrated the previous record holder’s achievement and I thought... I want a piece of that, I want to push as hard as I can and see what is possible,” says Allister. “And I felt that record needs to come home to NZ where the blokart was invented.”

After months of strength training at ALLFIT Gym and countless hours of high-speed practice runs on New Zealand beaches, Allister was confident but realistic. His goal was an ambitious 750 km over 24 hours, knowing that everything depended on wind conditions. By the 12-hour mark, he had already passed the 500 km milestone. But the night brought unexpected hurdles, including a collision with a road marker that bent his front wheel.

“The mental game was the toughest part,” he says. “Your body hurts, you’re tired, but you’ve got to block it out and stay focused. Having support from the Ardmore Blokart Club team and messages from home really kept me going.”

After surpassing the record at the 16-hour mark, Allister wisely chose to stop and conserve energy for the upcoming US National Championships, where he went on to place third in his weight category.

The Ivanpah lake-bed, considered one of the best blokart surfaces in the world, hosted 35 competitors including three from New Zealand and the rest from across the U.S.

“It’s like sailing on the ocean but four times the speed,” says Allister. “It’s a privilege to race there.”

Now back in NZ, Allister is an advocate for the sport, describing blokarting as fast, fun, and accessible.

“It’s a great family activity that caters for both casual fun-seekers and competitive sailors,” he says.

Allister is a member of the Ardmore Blokart Club (ABC) which meets most Sundays after 1pm at Ardmore Airfield, unless racing or beach events are scheduled. People are always welcome to turn up and give blokarting a try, he says.

“The club has gear to loan and hire, all you need to do is join up to the club for a minimal annual fee and you get access to the gear and support from members. Alternatively, coming along to an open day or reaching out to the club secretary is a good way to try before you buy.. see if you like it before committing.”

Details of the club’s get togethers are available on the ABC events calendar, and the club plans to run a ‘have a go’ day soon - people can register their interest by emailing secretary@abc.gen.nz.

Women and youth are particularly encouraged to get involved.

NZTA reveals latest plan for proposed Mill Road upgrade packages, so contractors can start work sooner in places where there is more certainty around the existing environment. “Mill Road Stage 1 covers a range of different environments, including sections that are highly urban, through to rural areas, as well as locations that require more technical assessments to determine the most appropriate design and construction methods,” said Bishop. “The plan is to focus on Stage 1b from Hollyford Drive to Hilltop Road, along with a piece of work to the south (Stage 1d), which includes roundabout improvements around the Mill Road Alfriston area. Stage 1a between State Highway 1 (SH1) and Hollyford Drive and Stage 1c from Hilltop Road to north of Alfriston will be delivered later.” The project will seek to obtain statutory approvals, likely via the Fast Track Approvals Act, which will be confirmed in coming months. Technical work to secure the route protection and other approvals for future Stages 2 and 3 is scheduled to begin from mid-2026.

Stages 2 and 3

Over the next 3 years, NZTA will work towards route protection for Stages 2 and 3 which will include securing the designation and consents needed for construction.

Tolling an option

As a Road of National Significance, the Mill Road Corridor must be considered for tolling by NZTA. Bishop says that if tolled, Mill Road Stage 1 has a Benefit Cost Ratio (BCR) of 2.2, and un-tolled the BCR is 3.1. The Government will consider this recommendation and announce next steps of the process in due course.

Autumn a good time to ramp up pest control efforts

[Over the coming months the PC Times will publish a series of articles focusing on local environmental issues, written by Year 10 student Eleanor Vogel who is undertaking this project as part of her Duke of Edinburgh qualifications.

As it becomes colder and winter arrives, pest control becomes more important – especially on the Pōhutukawa Coast. Cold weather drives pests to look for warmer places to stay, those places often being underneath and around our homes, and even native bush - right where all our native animals like to be. With winter on the way, we need to step up our pest control efforts. By doing this, we can keep pests out of our homes, and play a very crucial part in protecting native flora and fauna.

Pests like stoats, rats, and possums damage crops, spread diseases, but most significantly prey on our native birds and destroy our native bush. An estimated 25 million native birds like piwakawaka, tuis, and kererus are killed every year by these predators, highlighting how pest control and trapping is more important than ever.

There are many different ways to get involved locally, such as joining the trap.nz project and attending bait and trap days run by Predator Free Franklin. And if you're just getting started, people in our community are always happy to help you set things up, many can be found on the local Predator Free Maraetai Beachlands Facebook Page. You can also visit PredatorFreeNZ.org, which gives a step-by-step guide on how to work your traps. If you already have traps, you can help by contributing valuable data to trap.nz, which records numbers of traps, predators, and native birds.

Whether we are just setting up a trap in our backyards, or joining a local conservation group, we can make a difference - more native birds around our backyards, fewer pests in our homes, and a healthier environment for future generations.
