Hūnua Traverse preview opens to cyclists

Map showing sections of the Hūnua Traverse cycle trail which will open to the public this weekend.

Following years of planning, hard work and delays, the brakes are finally off the Hūnua Traverse cycle trail. Two sections of the route will open this Saturday 1 July.

Access to the northern section of the Traverse is from Clevedon Village via Ottau Mountain Road on weekends and public holidays only to avoid logging trucks. Alternate access to this 14km section is available from Moumoukai Hill Road, via Ness Valley.

The southern section gives cyclists a 24km ride along Waterline Road to Kaiaua and will be accessible seven days a week. Entrance to Waterline Road is from Mangatawhiri Valley via Moumoukai Road in Hūnua or from Kaiaua via Workman Road. This section of the Hūnua Traverse sees the reopening of Mangatangi Hill Road to the public, which has been closed since 2018 when a Controlled Area Notice was placed over the Hūnua Ranges Regional Park.

Neither section of the Traverse is an easy ride - the grade

4 cycle trail is suited to intermediate and advanced cyclists. Cyclists should expect steep, slippery hills and some sharp off-camber corners. The route can be ridden in both directions on roads shared with vehicles, including trucks and machinery at times, and pedestrian traffic as well as other cyclists. Cyclists must keep left at all times and control their speed; a good rule of thumb is to be able to stop within half your line of sight distance. Riding time depends on a number of variables, such as which section of the Hūnua Traverse people choose to ride, their level of fitness, whether they're on an e-bike, whether they ride point-to-point or there-and-back, and which direction they travel.

The route follows public roads as well as unsealed Watercare service roads within the Hūnua Ranges Regional Park. Eventually the route will extend over 44km and encompass

Guest editorial by Rotary Club of Pohutukawa Coast

Charitable organisations who fundraise essentially convert many of their volunteer hours into money that can be used for charitable purposes. The balance of these volunteer hours goes toward simply creating an event for community enjoyment.

If the fundraising event has a public profile it can attract sponsors who hopefully cover the expenses associated. An example is an event I am associated with via Rotary, the Rotary ALLFIT Coastal Fun Run, where the primary sponsors in past years have been ALLFIT and Auckland Council via the Franklin Local Board.

It does mean that Council in particular gets great 'bang for buck', as for a relatively small investment, a community event is organised and money raised for charity. If Council was to organise a similar event themselves, it would cost tens of thousands of dollars with no money raised.

The other major event Rotary organises, the GJ Gardner Beachlands & Maraetai Trolley Derby (the Trolley Derby), is similar but has the added benefit of bringing generations together to create something that can provide a spectacle when started at the top of a hill! It also receives funding from Auckland Council in order to help cover expenses.

This is one reason I made a submission against cuts to local board spending, which have unfortunately been made in the recently approved Auckland Council Annual Budget. It's not just events like my examples, it goes against an important concept, I think, that many local decisions are best made by locals not bureaucrats in Auckland Council offices. Cuts to local board spending mean that your local board members have less wherewithall, less say and are potentially less effective. It also further encourages the public perception that voting at local board elections is a bit of a waste of time. But getting back to community events. They play a vital role in fostering a sense of local togetherness, unity and social cohesion. They also offer an opportunity for residents to showcase their talents, share their culture, promote understanding among community members and help the development of society as a whole.

This understanding is sorely needed in a world where online platforms and social media simply entrench viewpoints and behaviours by prioritising content based on users' previous interests, thereby creating echo chambers where these viewpoints are never challenged. As the local board spending cuts percolate through they will have a direct effect on this and other communities as some local events will not proceed and improvements to facilities will not happen.

People need real world opportunities to challenge themselves, rub shoulders with their neighbours, share experiences and chat face to face. That's why community events and facilities are so important.

Quiz night fundraiser helps keep bellies full around town

Over 100 people attended the Bellyful Quiz Night held at the Beachlands Chartered Club on Saturday 10 June.

Bellyful cooks and delivers food to local community whanau when they welcome a baby or need support due to serious illness or unforeseen circumstances. There is no financial assessment, as Bellyful's services and support are based on the emotional need for support.

The 17 quiz night teams raised $4457 - enough money to cook 811 meals for the local community.

Local team The Cupid Stunts took out first place, only edging out second place winners Taking Care of Quizziness by correctly answering a tie-breaker question.

Bellyful would like to thank the following supporters:

Weight lifting teen goes from strength to strength

Maraetai teenager Max Louw only began competitively lifting weights a year ago, and he has already broken two Auckland records. His success has overridden his lack of experience enough for selectors to include him in the team heading to the Sub-Junior and Junior Powerlifting World Championship in Cluj-Napoca, Romania, in August.

Max has lived in Maraetai most of his life, attending Maraetai Beach School and now Howick College where he is in Year 13. He is well known to the Beachland-Maraetai Football Club, and until recently worked at Thai Passion Restaurant in Beachlands.

His powerlifting journey began at the age of 14 when he joined his mum, Penny, at crossfit classes held at Fortis Fitness. Penny says that with the encouragement of "the wonderful" Fortis Fitness coaches Darren and Sharon Speyers, Max quickly discovered that lifting heavy weights was something he enjoyed and excelled at.

He took his weightlifting to the next level by joining Get Strength Powerlifting Gym in Onehunga, where he is coached by one of New Zealand's powerlifting heavyweights John Strachan. When he can't get to Onehunga, Max trains at ALLFIT Gym in Beachlands.

Despite only lifting competitively for about a year, he broke the Auckland record for squat (lift of 212.5kg) and deadlift (lift of 250kg), taking the gold medal at the recent Auckland Powerlifting Competition. He also broke the overall record with his total of three lifts coming to 585kg.

He might have natural talent, but his love of the sport means he also puts in a lot of hard work.

"I love the feeling of being strong, and the respect I get from others. So many guys go to the gym, and so they all know what it's like to lift, and so many people understand and appreciate the work that goes into lifting the weights I do," says Max. "So many people come up to me to talk about my lifting, not just at the gym but also at school, and I really appreciate the support and sense of community that comes with the sport, and I like talking to people. I love the inclusiveness of powerlifting - pretty much anyone can compete. I like how you can never be done - you're constantly improving. It seems like there are no limits, no ceiling."

Max isn't yet sure how many competitors he will face in at the world champs in Romania.

"Last year, 13 athletes competed in my age and weight class at this competition, from ten different countries. This year, New Zealand is sending nine athletes in total (for all age and weight classes, for both men and women), which is very exciting and a great improvement on last year, when we sent none. There will be one other male New Zealander in my age and weight class - he recently joined the Get Strength Gym where I train, so there will be one familiar face competing against me on the platform. This competition is just for Sub-Juniors and Juniors, so competitors will be somewhere between 16 and 22 years of age. I'm really looking forward to meeting other lifters of similar ages from all over the world!"

Max sees his lack of experience, and managing his nerves, as his biggest challenges at the world champs.

"I have only done one major (regional) competition before, and a couple of smaller ones. Because I haven't been competing long enough to have participated in a national competition, I had to get special dispensation from the New Zealand Powerlifting Association to represent for an international competition. Luckily they gave me dispensation based on my young age as well as the records that I set at the Auckland Regional Comp. So I don't have a lot of experience on the platform!"

Max says that powerlifting is quite a technical sport and requires full concentration.

"Nerves can sometimes interfere with this, so any slip-up could mean a 'no lift' verdict. I work on managing my nerves by calming my breath and envisioning a successful lift, over and over again, and also by distracting myself by listening to music on headphones between lifts. I guess that being in a foreign place might be a bit daunting, but I'll take time to familiarise myself with the environment in the week before the comp, so hopefully that will be fine."

Dedicating so much time to his newfound passion doesn't mean his studies have suffered. This year he expects to complete his NCEA Level 3 with Excellence endorsement. At Howick College he is a school leader, head of house, provides peer support for junior students and coaches the Howick junior boy's football team.

Amidst all of that, Max faces the challenge of raising the $10,000 required to get to Romania. Powerlifting is a self-funded sport, with athletes needing to raise their own funds to compete for their country.

Max has set up a Givealittle page which has raised about $3,000 so far, and he was recently delighted to hear that his application to the Black and White Golfers sporting trust was successful. The trust has agreed to sponsor $4,500 of his travel.

To contribute to Max's fundraising efforts, visit givealittle.co.nz/cause/get-max-to-romania-for-powerlifting-worlds.

Leadership training day strengthens connections between local schools

Students from three local schools took part in a leadership training day late last month.

The day was arranged by the Howick Coast Kāhui Ako/Community of Schools - a cluster of schools who work closely together to positively impact progress and achievement for all students. The cluster also helps strengthen pathways and transitions through the local community.

Maraetai Beach School, Clevedon School and Brookby School joined students from Botany Downs Primary, Howick Primary, Howick Intermediate and Howick College at the leadership day.

Each school selected a group of student leaders to attend, where they had the opportunity to meet others, work with students leaders from different schools, take part in a leadership challenge workshop on the day and generally have lots of fun.

During the first part of the day, Darren Pereira (Founder and Coach of Success Integrated from Australia) mentored the students through a leadership challenge.

The second half of the day was spent taking part in leadership activities run by the Howick College Leadership Group.

Maraetai Beach School principal Mark Keenan says the day provided a wonderful opportunity for student leaders to grow their understanding of leadership and service while having the opportunity to meet other student leaders from the different Kāhui Ako schools, “and hopefully making some new friends on the day”.

The Howick Coast Kahui Ako schools have worked together since 2017.

Mark says the schools have formed very strong relationships.

“Teachers from the across the schools have opportunities to work with and learn from each other and we will be looking for more opportunities for our students to come together.”

This week's voucher sponsored by Matthew Brown

How do we save the trees?
 How do we save the ocean? The birds and the bees?
 Be a kaitiaki, help save the earth
 It's where we live, all we got, we must learn
 Kaitiakitanga means guardianship and protection
 Making sure that the future is going in the right direction.

Someone who does that is called a kaitiaki
 They protect the forests and the sea
 And other environments
 To be committed is the only requirement
 A kaitiaki must have a really green thumb

To help future generations to come
 Because we look after the planet
 We help it, and don't take it for granted.

We've made lots of mistakes
 But now it's time to fix them

Hunua Traverse opens preview trail

Hūnua Traverse project coordinator Nicki Henshaw says it's important that cyclists note that all side roads will remain closed to the public unless clearly marked otherwise.

“We're delighted to have access to parts of the Hūnua Ranges Regional Park that have previously been closed to the public and we're grateful to Watercare and the Regional Parks team for the work done to enable this. But it's not carte blanche; most side roads remain strictly closed and are clearly signposted as such. Compliance officers will be enforcing this and non-compliance may result in fines.

“With no cell phone reception along the majority of the Hūnua Traverse it's very important that users take precautions to keep themselves safe. Most critically, this means riding to the conditions and sticking to the signposted route.”

A slip on Keeney Road, caused by Cyclone Gabrielle, has prevented a full opening of the intended route at this time. The 6km section, along Plows Road and Keeney Road, between the northern and southern section remains strictly closed.

Nicki says they are working with stakeholders to understand if and when additional roads may be opened to the public. “A number of factors will be considered, including Watercare's Regeneration Project operations, timing of harvesting operations and cyclists' compliance with restricted access and bike washing requirements.”

At the northern end, riders should note that car parking is available in Clevedon village and at the top of Moumoukai Hill Road but there is strictly no car parking at the top of Otau Mountain Road as parked cars block the turning circle required for service and emergency vehicles.

Temporary closures of the Hūnua Traverse may be required at times to accommodate forestry operations, pest control, maintenance or on occasion to mitigate fire risk during the fire season. Riders should check the Hūnua Traverse website for up-to-date access information.

The Hūnua Traverse has been funded by the Franklin Local Board and is delivered in partnership with Watercare, Auckland Regional Parks and Ngā Haerenga NZCT. At this point the Traverse is currently self-service, though once the full route opens and weekend-only restrictions end on the northern section there are hopes that a service operator will run a bike hire/shuttle service to the start and end points.

FOOD & ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

Thai Noodle Salad - by The Kai Box | www.thekaibox.co.nz

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. In a large pot, add in the rice noodles, cover with boiling water and cook for 4-5 minutes. Drain and rinse with cold water. Set aside.
2. Shred the carrots and cabbage. Rinse the edamame beans with hot water and drain. Add chopped spinach, carrots, cabbage and edamame beans to a large mixing bowl.
3. Make the dressing by combining all ingredients into a small bowl and whisking until well combined. Pour half the dressing over the veg and toss well to combine.
4. Assemble your serving bowls with a serving of noodles and top with the veggies. Drizzle with the dressing and serve with a garnish of peanuts, lime wedges and coriander.

INGREDIENTS:

- 2 carrots, peeled and shredded (grated)
- ¼ red cabbage, shredded
- 1 cup edamame beans
- ½ packet rice noodles
- 2 handfuls baby spinach, roughly chopped
- ½ lime, cut into wedges
- ¼ cup peanuts (roughly chopped)
- handful of coriander, roughly chopped

DRESSING:

- ¼ cup peanut butter
- 1 TBs maple syrup
- 1 TBs soy sauce
- 1 tsp sesame oil
- 1 TBs rice vinegar
- 1 tsp grated ginger
- 1-2 tsp Sriracha (optional for heat)
- 2-3 TBs warm water

Coastal Cat Rescue 'Cat of the Month'

Flicker and Socks (brother and sister). These sweethearts were born to an unwanted cat who was part of an unloved farm cat colony. I have de-sexed all the adults, but these guys were only tiny so no need for them to be barn cats! They are super friendly, precocious and bundles of pure energy! Currently fostered in Botany, Auckland, they are ready and waiting to find their forever home. They have been de-sexed and microchipped. An adoption fee applies to help cover our veterinary expenses.

Flicker was too busy to participate in the photo shoot. They would love to be adopted together but are confident enough to join different families.

If you would like to know more, or arrange to meet these beautiful kittens, please email bailifscourt@gmail.com or Join Coastal Cat Rescue on Facebook and PM.

Catch of the Week photo competition

Proving that you don't need a boat to catch a decent fish, Ramon Laker caught this 59cm kahawai off Omana Beach. The fish is currently stored in the freezer.

To enter the Catch of the Week photo competition, email your photo and details about your catch (where it was caught, name of the boat, what you did with the fish, plus any other special details) to liz@gasmaraetai.co.nz. The weekly winner will receive a $50 Top Catch voucher from GAS Maraetai, and the season winner will receive a fishing rod and reel.
